Anthony S. Winer, Mary Ann E. Archer : A Basic Course in Public International Law Research before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Basic Course in Public International Law Research:

In this interactive, student-centered guide, Anthony S. Winer and Mary Ann E. Archer provide a comprehensive introduction and analysis of research methods for Public International Law. A Basic Course in Public International Law Research promotes effective research practices that stem from an understanding of the tenets of International Law. This dynamic text offers in-depth analysis of such topics as the U.N. principal organs, the International Court of Justice, and the law of treaties; and includes copies of key international law documents, including the U.N. Charter and the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties. Complete with background essays, exercises, and analysis of both print and electronic resources, A Basic Course in Public International Law Research is ideal for both undergraduate and graduate law courses, as well as courses in International Relations and International Political Science.
