Take care of your pets when you are goneBy ArizonaGirlThis wonderful book written by a member of the National Network of Estate Planning Attorneys is an invaluable resource for information on how to plan for the needs of beloved animal friends after you are gone. It is helpful to both the lay person to read as part of their preparation for consulting with a caring estate planning counselor, as are to be found in the NNEPA, and for the attorney that is sensitive to the needs and concerns of their pet owning clients.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good titleBy chesta drakeIt seemed boring to me. I do share the sentiments expressed in the title. Go back to ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Help in providing for companion animals that survive us.By tcequine"All My Children Wear Fur Coats" is a thorough and comprehensive guide to how to plan for the care of our companion animals that survive us. The serious subject is handled with wit and love. I haven't seen another book dedicated to dealing with the subject, and I have used it in my own estate planning.

Hoyt pens a guide to planning for a pet's future if something happens to the owner. She demonstrates eight ways to create a legacy for a pet's memory and how to write a plan for the pet's care. (Animals/Pets)

From the AuthorI have always loved pets. My dad, John A. Hoyt, was the President and CEO of The Humane Society of the United States while I was growing up. I was always around animals and the legal issues related to animals. I advocate for spaying and neutering your pets as well as creating estate plans that contemplate what will happen to them if something happens to you.About the AuthorPeggy is a founding partner of The Law Offices of Hoyt Bryan, a family wealth and legacy planning law firm specializing in wills, trusts and estates and elder law. She is a three-time Stetson University graduate receiving her B.B.A., cum laude, in 1981, her M.B.A. in 1982 and her J.D., cum laude, in 1993. Her passion is her pets - all of them - including 3 horses, 5 dogs and 4 cats! She enjoys competitive trail and limited distance endurance riding. Peggy practices in the areas of family wealth and legacy counselling, including trust and estate planning and administration, elder law, small business creation, succession and exit planning, real estate transactions and animal law. In addition to her law degree, she holds a Florida real estate license. Peggy formerly held a NASD Series 7 license and health, life and variable annuities licenses. She serves as a certified FINRA Arbitrator and is also a Florida Circuit Court Mediator concentrating in family business and estate matters. Peggy holds Board Certifications from the Florida Bar in Wills, Trusts, and Estates and Elder Law. Peggy and two friends, Kim Radcliffe and Casey Taylor have recently founded the Center for Animal Advocacy, a Central Florida law firm dedicated to legal issues related to animals and the people who love them.
