

[Online library] Battered Women, Their Children, and International Law: The Unintended Consequences of the Hague Child Abduction Convention (Northeastern Series on Gender, Crime, and Law)

Battered Women, Their Children, and International Law: The Unintended Consequences of the Hague Child Abduction Convention (Northeastern Series on Gender, Crime, and Law)

Taryn Lindhorst, Jeffrey L. Edleson
*ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#3518879 in Books Northeastern 2012-12-11 Original language: English PDF # 1 8.90 x .80 x 6.00l, .80 #File Name: 1555538037280 pages | File size: 27.Mb

Taryn Lindhorst, Jeffrey L. Edleson : Battered Women, Their Children, and International Law: The Unintended Consequences of the Hague Child Abduction Convention (Northeastern Series on Gender, Crime, and Law) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Battered

Women, Their Children, and International Law: The Unintended Consequences of the Hague Child Abduction Convention (Northeastern Series on Gender, Crime, and Law):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Diana KategiannisVery pleased with my purchase and the excellent service provided.

Ending a bad personal relationship is extremely complicated when the relationship is transnational. Women whose partners are abusive often turn to family members for assistance. When this means leaving one nation for another with ones children, Hague Convention (1980) international treaties come into play. All too often, the mother is charged with child abduction and forced to return the children to an abusive father. Drawing on a series of true-life stories, the authors reveal important dimensions of domestic law, interpretations of childrens best interests, and the legal rationales required to ensure safety for battered women and their children across international boundaries.

About the AuthorTARYN LINDHORST is Carol LaMare Associate Professor, School of Social Work, University of Washington. JEFFREY L. EDLESON is Dean of the School of Social Welfare at the University of California at Berkeley.