

(Read now) Broken Engagements: The Action for Breach of Promise of Marriage and the Feminine Ideal, 1800-1940 (Oxford Studies in Modern Legal History)

Broken Engagements: The Action for Breach of Promise of Marriage and the Feminine Ideal, 1800-1940 (Oxford Studies in Modern Legal History)

Saskia Lettmaier

audiobook / *ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#7398286 in Books 2010-02-11Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 9.21 x .56 x 6.14l, 1.10 #File Name: 0199569975230 pages | File size: 15.Mb

Saskia Lettmaier : Broken Engagements: The Action for Breach of Promise of Marriage and the Feminine Ideal, 1800-1940 (Oxford Studies in Modern Legal History) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Broken Engagements: The Action for Breach of Promise of Marriage and the

Feminine Ideal, 1800-1940 (Oxford Studies in Modern Legal History):

This text explores ideals of femininity during the 19th and early 20th centuries by charting responses to broken engagements. Interweaving a history of the legal remedies available for a broken promise of marriage with literary accounts from Dickens to Wodehouse, it offers an insight into modern attitudes to female identity.

...knowledgable and wide-ranging investigation into the history of the common law action for breach of promise of marriage...she [Lettmaier] has convincingly straddled the disciplinary divide between legal history and literary criticism. * Silvia Mergenthal, Archiv * On the whole, Lettmaiers study provides fascinating insights into the construction of an ideal of femininity and its ramifications in legal practice. * Jochen Petzold, Zeitschrift fur Anglistik und Amerikanistik Redaktion *About the AuthorSaskia Lettmaier is a jurist trained in both Anglo-American and German law. She obtained her B.A. in Jurisprudence from Oxford University in 2002, being awarded a First as well as the St. Anne's College Law Prize. She holds a German law degree, an LL.M. degree from Harvard University (2003) and a doctorate in Cultural Studies from the University of Bamberg (summa cum laude, 2007). She has lectured in law and in Victorian culture at the universities of Bamberg, Erlangen-Nuremberg, and Cork, and published articles on law as well as on the intersection between law and literature. She is currently a Research Fellow at the University of Regensburg and an S.J.D. Candidate and Fritz Thyssen Scholar at the Harvard Law School, where she also serves on the Harvard Journal of Law and Gender.