Gail Boreman Bird, Gail Boreman-Bird : Cases and Materials on California Community Property, 7th before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Cases and Materials on California Community Property, 7th:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Very readable for a case book By Steve This is one of the better case books I've had to purchase for law school. It is very accessible and readable. The text leads easily into the cases and the cases themselves are usually modern (i.e. Barry Bonds' divorce) and are completely germane to the prelude text. It is also complete with the text of modern California Family Code statutes. Excellent text and one I can see myself referring to for years to come

Traces the historical development of the community property concept. Also introduces basic classification principles, including limitations on the classification process. The remaining chapters deal with the consequences flowing from the classification of property as community or separate, including management and control rights and responsibilities, creditors' rights, and distribution of property on the termination of the community. The 9th Edition contains a new section dealing with same-sex unions and domestic partnership legislation. Further ramifications and problems are explored in the notes to the cases.
