Tsitsi V Himunyanga-Phiri : Celebrating Marriage Through The Law before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Celebrating Marriage Through The Law:

"Celebrating Marriage Through the Law" is a follow-up to the author's first book, "The Legacy". It uses case studies to examine and highlight women's experiences in marriage with the aim of portraying that women can find solutions to their marital problems by using the law. It emphasizes that women hold the key that can make the difference in their own lives and in the lives of others. Women, especially African women are very reluctant to use the legal avenues available to them, either due to their ignorance of the law or their reluctance to disturb the status quo of " women are to be seen and not heard". Thus a lot of women end up simply living with their problem that usually has a very simple solution. The Law is able to change the attitudes and perspectives of society to make life more just and meaningful. We need the Law to remind us of what is right in the world and we need the Law more to ensure that women are given the support that they need to make changes in their lives.

About the AuthorAbout the Author Tsitsi V. Himunyanga-Phiri, graduated with a Law degree from the University of Zambia in 1980. She was admitted to practice as a lawyer before the High Court of Zambia in 1982. She is also the holder of an M.S. in Community Systems Planning and Development and is Abd/PhD in the field of Social development and Public Policy Analysis, both obtained from the Pennsylvania State University, USA with specific emphasis on Women and Development. She has devoted her life in formulating and implementing projects to benefit the empowerment of women either legally, economically or socially like the provision of micro credit loans, civic education and legal services in Zambia and the United States. Her most rewarding achievement has been to provide affordable housing to women through her company, The H-P Women's Development Co. Ltd., that financed and built 36 housing units in the country's first ever Housing Project for women, located in Makeni, Lusaka, Zambia in the years 1990 to 2001. Her personal experiences and work with women have strengthened her faith in the Lord. She enjoys sharing and working for the Lord through her writing and speaking engagements at conferences and women's retreats.
