Ursula Kilkelly : Children's Rights in Ireland: Law, Policy and Practice before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Children's Rights in Ireland: Law, Policy and Practice:

* Updated to the Child Care (Amendment) Act 2011 * Deals with the Criminal Justice (Withholding of Information on Offences Against Children and Vulnerable Persons) Bill 2012 and the proposed Child First Bill This new edition of a completely unique title outlines current law, policy and practice as it relates to children in all areas of their lives. Written in a clear analytical style, it maps the legal landscape and highlights the key provisions and principles you need to navigate when handling cases involving children and families. No other book examines law and policy affecting children in such a comprehensive and detailed manner. It tackles a broad range of issues concerning children beyond traditional family law, including constitutional issues, and will keep your firm in step with current thinking and the latest legal practice nationally and internationally. It is thoroughly updated since the last edition which issued in 2008. Prof Ursula Kilkelly BA (UL), LLM, PhD (QUB) is a senior lecturer in UCC
