Lawrence M Sturtevant : Chronicles of Good Will Home 1889-1989 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Chronicles of Good Will Home 1889-1989:

CHRONICLES OF GOOD WILL HOME 1889 1989 is the detailed account of a child who wanted to build homes for children who were in need of a home and a helping hand. As he reached early manhood he wrote, A man to undertake and to develop such a work must have one of two things; he must have wealth at his command, or he must have friends in sympathy with the plan and both able and willing to help. I had neither the friends nor the money; I was dollarless and my acquaintances were few and among them there was none of wealth. This volume chronicles the remarkable account of how George Walter Hinckley and his trust in Psalm 37:5 accomplished the creation of a 2,450 acre campus with over 40 buildings and the necessary plan called The Good Will Idea that successfully changed thousands of young lives.
