William H. Rodgers Jr., Michael Robinson-Dorn, Jennifer K. Barcelos, Anna T. Moritz : Climate Change: A Reader before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Climate Change: A Reader:

Climate Change provides a comprehensive and unique introduction to the emerging issues of global climate change. It presents many of the foundational documents, background scientific explanations, and excerpts from the leading thinkers in the vast literature on global warming. It features original articles and essays from scholars in the fields of environmental science, and environmental, energy, international and human rights law. Designed for use in the burgeoning number of new courses in areas such as global warming, climate change and climate justice, this book is organized around the topics of science, justice, impacts, energy, the U.S. response, international law, state and local law, and innovative litigation. The Reader weaves together the important story of the global warming saga in a thorough and approachable manner. Includes CD.
