Christina M. Carroll, J. Randolph Evans, Lindene E. Patton, Joanne L. Zimolzak : Climate Change and Insurance before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Climate Change and Insurance:

Climate change has become a significant issue in scientific, political, and legal circles, and this may have profound implications for the insurance industry. More frequent catastrophic events such as floods, droughts, fires, hurricanes, and the like, whether or not attributable to climate change, challenge the insurance industry's abilities to measure and predict risk.
