

(Free read ebook) Compliance: Regulation and Environment (Oxford Socio-Legal Studies)

Compliance: Regulation and Environment (Oxford Socio-Legal Studies)

Bridget M. Hutter

*ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC / audiobook

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#9512448 in Books Oxford University Press, USA 1997-08-21 Original language: English PDF # 1 5.70 x .90 x 8.60l, 1.12 #File Name: 0198264755304 pages | File size: 45.Mb

Bridget M. Hutter : Compliance: Regulation and Environment (Oxford Socio-Legal Studies) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Compliance: Regulation and Environment

(Oxford Socio-Legal Studies):

The concept of compliance is central to government attempts to regulate economic activities. In this volume Hutter investigates the notion of compliance in two areas of vital importance to our everyday lives, namely occupational health and safety, and the environment. Hutter provides a snapshot view of the work of field-level inspectors and in doing so is able to provide insights into the broader factors which influence regulation and its definition at the everyday level, adding to our understanding of an ill-defined area of criminal law and social control.

this is a vintage Rolls-Royce of a book - a quality product in a traditional style that is not only bulky and impressive but likely to be an appreciating classic of its type. Christopher Hood, New Institutionalism and Organizational Theory, A Article. 'Sesitively framed, well-written and impressively thorough, this study is likely to be a standard work on regulatory compliance for some time to come.' Christopher Hood, New Institutionalism and Organizational Theory, A Article. 'Anyone who thinks regulatory 'compliance' is a clear-cut phenomenon, capable of being easily defined and measured, has been reading too many self-congratulatory reports by regulatory agencies and needs to read this book.' Christopher Hood, New Institutionalism and Organisational Theory: A Article. About the Author Bridget M. Hutter is a Lecturer in Sociology at London School of Economics.