By Wayne Story
This is an amazing book. It tells the real story about what you will face if you decide to go through a divorce. I wish I would have had this when I went through my divorce. Things would have gone so much easier. Mr. Crum tells it like it is. He reveals the real behind the scenes things that go on in a divorce that are all smoke and mirrors tactics used by the other side. You learn what to look out for and what to ignore. You are going to be so glad you read this before you start or finish your divorce.

Attorney David Crum spent years as a divorce assassin, an attorney who wins for his clients at all costs, regardless of the consequences. In the world of divorce, these lawyers learn to utilize the court system to their advantage, how to delay or speed up a case, how to get the best performance from their clients, and how to get the best results. Despite the harm they might cause to families, the divorce assassin is often sought out by clients as the pinnacle of representation, and David was at the very top of his game. But all that was about to change. When David takes on a client who, despite tremendous pain and betrayal in her relationship, seeks a better way to divorce, one that keeps her finances and family intact and healthy, David is forced to re-assess not only his own role in the legal system, but what it really means to be a divorce attorney. Confessions of a Divorce Assassin is the story of one lawyers journey from the often devastating normal process of divorce, to a client focused system in which the family comes first, and cases are resolved that allow everyone to win. David shares valuable insider information about what you should know, how you should proceed, and how you can keep your family healthy even when divorce is inevitable. This is a must read for anyone considering divorce or caught in the divorce process.

About the Author
David Crum is a celebrated author, speaker, entrepreneur, and business coach. After graduating with a law degree from the George Washington University Law School, David moved to New Mexico, where he started a divorce and family law practice at the age of twenty-six. After growing his practice into a successful business enterprise, David turned his attention to educating people about the divorce process and how to transform it into a healthy and positive experience. His Divorce Declassified program (DivorceDeclassified.com) has helped people all over the U.S. avoid the destructive pitfalls of the normal divorce case. David's innovative website, www.DivorceTruce.com continues to connect divorce clients with attorneys who follow David's practice philosophy. David and his wife Melissa are avid mountain climbers and travelers. They divide their time between the breathtaking desertscape of New Mexico and the emerald city of Seattle. They have one daughter who has flown the nest for the (greener?) pastures of New York City.
