Milos Vec : Constructing International Law: The Birth of a Discipline (Studien Zur Europaischen Rechtsgeschichte) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Constructing International Law: The Birth of a Discipline (Studien Zur Europaischen Rechtsgeschichte):

The contributions of this volume discuss concepts, notions, and transitions of nineteenth century international law. More specifically the questions focus on: On which premises was the juridical discipline constructed, what were the relations to other juridical, and non-juridical fields of knowledge? How did European nineteenth century international lawyers build a new legal science to be spread worldwide?
