Tim Padfield : Copyright for Archivists and Records Managers (The Facet Copyright Collection) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Copyright for Archivists and Records Managers (The Facet Copyright Collection):

This updated edition of Copyright for Archivists and Records Managers will prove an invaluable tool for keeping up to date with the complexities of copyright legislation.

Facet Publishing have branded these titles as part of a wider 'Copyright Classics' series: a fitting term given how much the sector has come to rely on the guidance provided by these authors ... with significant amounts of experience dealing with copyright issues through practice, lobbying policy-makers, and providing training to the archive, library and information management sectors. --Victoria Stobo Archives and Records" Now in an updated fifth edition modified to include the latest developments in United Kingdom copyright law, Copyright for Archivists and Records Managers is a "must-have" for archive and reference professionals based in the UK. The updated content includes major revisions in the sections about copyright exceptions; additional information about dealing with copyright including acknowledgment and liability; and consideration of copyright cases that have come before the courts. From literary and dramatic works to email and internet databases, Copyright for Archivists and Records Managers covers virtually every written material imaginable, and distills British copyright law into plain terms accessible to readers of all backgrounds." --Midwest Book About the Author Tim Padfield MA LLM has worked at The National Archives (formerly the Public Record Office), for over thirty years. He is a specialist in copyright, with particular reference to unpublished materials. He has a postgraduate law degree, with merit, is chair of the Libraries and Archives Copyright Alliance and adviser on copyright to the Society of Archivists.
